Guarding Settlers on Outposts of the North

How Railway Red Cross Hospitals and Hospital Car on the Canadian National System Watch Over Welfare of Pioneer Families.

By Anne Anderson Perry in C.N.R. Magazine.

Not so very long ago people were wont to talk much and think more about "soulless corporation," and to complain bitterly that "big business" knew little and cared less for the health, welfare and happiness of their employees. But those have changed. Today the bigger the business the more certain one is to find its executives taking the deepest interest and the most practical participation in everything touching the lives of the people they employ. For corporations and big interests alike have found by experience that their own success is indissolubly bound up with the well-being of not only their own working staffs, but with that of the general community in which they live. So that, today, one can see many such evidences of a growth in humanitarianism, in social welfare co-operative activities, and in amelioration experiments which take sympathy and imagination, as well as money to initiate and in operate.

An outstanding example of just such co-operation may be seen in the generous support given by the Canadian National Railways to the Red Cross Outposts, in Northern Ontario, whose they have expended many dollars in buildings, or their upkeep, and have lent substantial assistance in many other ways to these brave little hospitals which sell safety to pioneers on the ever-extending frontiers.

One of these ways is the operation of a "Hospital on Wheels," which is serving in Thunder Bay District among scattered settlements, but which was originally a Canadian National coach fitted up to act as an emergency outpost at Hudson, during the gold rush into the Red Lake Mining country. So immensely useful was this glorified coach found for its work among tie-trekking adventurers and settlers by the Red Cross officials, that, at their request, it was made a permanent donation by the National System as a travelling outpost, to go wherever most needed in New Ontario pioneer sections. For Canada is still essentially a pioneering country with many romantic—yes, and often, tragic—contrasts in the living conditions of the people. Uncleared prairies, or unbroken forests, exist within a few hundred miles of great cities and well-established farming communities in which may be found all the amenities of civilization. In these "wilds" are few of them. For while it is true that the days of the earliest pioneers, who often existed with little benefit of clergy, doctor, or school, are over, it is nevertheless no unusual thing to find in the hinterlands whole families who have been born and have lived most of their lives 50 or 100 miles from physician, or hospital, or nurse. As these are among the most courageous and enterprising of citizens—the very heralds of a steadily advancing civilization—it has been long felt that such penalizing of the pioneer was in the interest of neither the individual nor the state. Hence governments in Canada, if from the point of view of health alone, have been faced with many formidable problems. Districts unorganized into municipalities exist to practically every northern city, some cases, indeed, erecting immense tracts of land inhabited by widely scattered settlers whose isolation has spelled danger to themselves and families, as well as a heavy responsibility to the state. For whether such communities exist in the remote lumbering sections of the Maritimes, in British Columbia, or Northern Ontario; in the mining and railroading fastnesses of the great North and West, or in the peace River country, these pioneering folk—especially the little children—present a problem of the first magnitude.

It was for just such people, living in remote settlements, that the Canadian Red Cross, after the war, when its purse was full, brought into being the Outpost Hospital, a unique institution unknown before in any country, but which has become a model followed by many other lands, where similar conditions have revealed similar needs.

The Outpost is not a standardized affair. It may be just a tiny cottage in charge of one or two intrepid nurses situated, as at Peace Coupe, on the very fringes of the furthest frontiers, in Alberta, where with its back to the wall of wilderness it fronts a territory hundreds of square miles in extent with a scattered population of a thousand settlers whose needs it must serve; or it may be like that at Carrapana, in Saskatchewan, where the first nurse in charge administered to an immense district of miles away from the nearest doctor, performing miracles of helpfulness in emergencies as have the Red Cross soldiers at the hastily less isolated Fisher Branch and Ilsteston Outposts, in Manitoba; or it may be a bed hospital, as at New Liskeard, in the midst of a rapidly growing agricultural and industrial centre in Northern Ontario; or again a two or seven bed Canadian Northern Outpost built or assisted by the National system, at Nakina, Hornepayne, Sioux Lake, or Redcliff.

But wherever it is, the Outpost acts as a background of protection for a community, a hospital when hospital is needed, but also a health centre from which the nurses in charge can dispense instruction and home aid.

During the past year 15,202 men, women and children were treated at or through the outposts, which in number 44 in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Manitoba and New Brunswick. The death rate was less than two per cent., a fact all the more appealing when it is understood that many of the 82 nurses serving in the Outposts frequently carry on without the aid of physicians. There were 259 births of brand new Canadians in the Outposts, themselves, and to which were attended by Outpost nurses in the homes of settlers, doctors being available in only 50 of the latter group. In all, 1,557 operations of which 302 were major in character were performed by surgeons at outposts and a total of nearly 10,000 out-patients and 4,367 in-patients in their medical and surgical needs as by these institutions. In their "spare" time, nurses of Outposts in Northern Ontario visit homes or schools to treat the children. Last year no less than 2,344 children were so inspected in 176 schools, where 112 health talks were given to mothers of families and to the children themselves.

The policy followed by the Society in establishing Outposts has been so only where asked to go and after a careful survey has been made of the locality, its inhabitants, the needs and financial possibilities. If it be decided that an Outpost hospital is badly needed and the community is able to pay for the initial expense of building or equipping, outside organizations such as the railways, are sure to be approached and when the necessary support is usually forthcoming. By adopting this policy and then taking over the cost of operation and management, the Red Cross is able to conserve its resources for additional needs and expansion.

So when the Canadian National Railways were approached and asked in 1925 to assist with the erection of hospitals at Nakina and Hornepayne, divisional points on their transcontinental road, where hundreds of families had followed the steel and had become new men, the management most generously co-operated by building two seven-bed outposts to meet the wide-understood needs of these districts. Since that time the railways have done much to meet the upkeep for both institutions. Through the admirable co-operation of the divisional doctor, of the railways, with the nurse-in-charge at Nakina Outpost, much constructive and preventive educational work has been made possible and a local Red Cross branch, working enthusiastically has succeeded in raising very substantial sums of money toward upkeep expenses. Here Victorian Order Nurses and are also nurses and two domesties, fours years of establishment have amply justified the confidence placed in hospital procedure.

In the early part of 1927, a request was received that an Outpost be established at Redcliff by the Red Cross and as this to another railway divisional point, the Canadian National was approached. The Edmonton Region, for some assistance. The railways promptly offered the sum of $1,500 toward the expense of converting an old schoolhouse into a hospital, and today this Outpost is in beneficent operation, with three-bed accommodations and the necessary equipment in the building which was donated by the town. In all of the Northern Ontario Outposts, as well as in those of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta where temperatures in the winter fall far below zero, and heavy snow complicates transportation problems, emergencies arise which are a severe test of the efficient women in charge paying off the entire debt on the Hospital Car Outpost and are gradually repaying the costs of equipment, so that this too, will eventually become a community hospital.

SILENCE IS INCOMPATIBLE

The attitude of the Premier of Ontario and the Minister of Health and Labor regarding the suggestion of a deliberate election bribe with public money made by the Leader of the Opposition in the House last week will not satisfy public opinion. Referring to the disclosures in the Globe of Monday it says:

"In an Administration which placed personal honor and political integrity in the position these attributes should rightfully enjoy—in an Administration concerned with a straightforward and clean record—such a direct and damning charge would have brought forth an immediate and an indignant challenge. The Minister impugned would have been on his feet in a moment, demanding the fullest investigation. Or, failing such action on his part, the Prime Minister, directly responsible for the honor and the integrity of his Administration, would have taken steps himself to clear and clean the escutcheon of his Government from the corroding stain that currency regards with disdain and disgust.

So far—and a whole week has gone by—Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson have remained silent. There has been from neither of them one word of denial or explanation. The Sinclair charge—direct and definite—arraigning the political honesty and integrity and the ordinary everyday clean conduct of the Ferguson Administration stands on electrified and unrefuted.

Is it a "little affair" with the Premier and Minister? Is it a "mere incident" in their mode of election during? Is Ontario in breed another era of Mimico M.'s and political discrace before her people determine to clean house? This sort of thing—tolerated and condoned—soon develops public contempt and, fortunately, public determination, no matter how six the majority, to get rid of those whose exercise for office has dulled and destroyed their sense of the moral obligations of leaders in political life.

Since the above was put in type Premier Ferguson has said in the House that the action of the Minister of Health in penning postscript was "not only regrettable but inexcusable." Enough said.

ELECTION BRIBERY

Having still in mind the appeal of the Government's candidate in North York for the support of prospective old-age pensioners, the public will be inclined to believe, unless Mr. Sinclair's charge is cleared up, that the Administration is making a political adjunct of its social legislation—that these laws supposed to be based on sympathetic consideration of the needy are in reality a vast bribery mechanism devised for election purposes. Powerful Governments have crashed in days gone by because they had too great confidence in their might. After all, the voters can distinguish between might and right—and will.

A letter sent by a Minister to a political agent may be regarded as so isolated incident which will speedily pass into oblivion. So may a letter sent out by a candidate implying that pensioners will fare better at the hands of his party than others. But so may organization effort to prevent by threats an independent candidate from contesting an election. So may vast expenditures in Northern Ontario for which proper accounting is said to be lacking. So may the participation of Magistrates in a political campaign. But, isolated as each may be, the accumulation will make a damning chapter unless explained in the judicial and convincing manner the electors expect their trustees in Parliament to follow.—Toronto Globe.

Controlling Liquor Export.

Peterborough Examiner: The amendment to the Export Act introduced by Premier King will if carried into effect undoubtedly it will command the support of a majority of the House—give the Federal Government absolute power to control the export of liquor from this country. The amendment strikes a body blow at the rum-running traffic, and, more important from the viewpoint of the Canadian people, it frees Canada of the charge that it has been a profit-sharing partner in a conspiracy to violate the laws of a neighbor country.

Canadian Wheat for China.

Regina Leader: As a means of helping to relieve famine conditions in China, where 2,000,000 persons are said to be here already died and 6,000,000 are facing starvation, the Hon. Fred Fitzpatrick, principal of the Frontier College of Canada, suggests that Canadian and British Governments and the Canadian Wheat Pool can help. He would have the pool dispose of, say, 25,000,000 bushels of its grain now held in the elevators for want of a market abroad, to the two governments mentioned, at a "compromise" price, and these Governments forward the grain to China as a gift from the two countries. Many western farmers may be prepared to assist in meeting China's sore plight if a well-based national effort is undertaken, whether by disposing of grain at a "compromise" price or giving of their grain outright.

The Federal Government has offered to allow the provinces of Manitoba and Quebec to develop water power as they see fit on the St. Lawrence so long as their navigation rights. This should clear up the situation. The Ontario Government has no excuse now for not developing hydro on the St. Lawrence.

The Government supporters in the Ontario Legislature voted down a proposal to split the gasoline tax and give a share to the municipalities. They should have supported it in all fairness. Between the Prov. Government and the County Council the tax bearer has a burden too heavy to carry. It is time the people said so by their votes.

This figure constituted a record for benefits awarded by the Ontario Board in fifteen years that the Act has been in force in this Province. In those fifteen years the Board has received a total of $76,383 reports of accidents, including 6,772 death cases and the total benefits awarded amount to $85,556,733.56. With strange inconsistency our laws consider a run-away team of horses a serious menaces on our public highways and are rather severe on those responsible, but they allow the high-speed motor car, over which the unskilled driver has little or no control, to pass unquestioned until an accident occurs. It is true that the motorists driving license may be taken away from him after he has effectively demonstrated his inability to operate his car by running it over someone. Would it not be a commonsense system to require the motor driver to demonstrate his ability to safely operate his car at or near its maximum speed before giving him a license to operate it on the public highways, also to limit his driving licenses to one particular car. There are few drivers, on matter how familiar and skilful they may be with one make of car, who can similarly operate a car of another make without at least some practice.

It looks like a very extravagant and foolish proposition on the part of the Federal Government to spend millions and millions of dollars in order to control the broadcasting of radio throughout Canada, when in the first surprise has already so satisfactorily occupied the field without costing the receivers any expense for service except the Government license fee. The proposition of the Royal Commission looks like a "white elephant" that might become a semi-political machine. The Era endorses the opinion expressed by the Toronto Globe:

"The Government through this Depart of Marine at Ottawa, may make any regulations it deems necessary, and see that such regulations are lived up in by the broadcasters. If there have been features in broadcasting in Canada that were not what they should have been, the Government has the remedy at hand by revising regulations to prevent the recurrence of such features. And to do this very thing there should be no need of the Government investing the people's money in a doubtful and extravagant experiment; nor the employment of a highly paid bureaucracy to run it."

Alleged to have struck Dallon Graham on the head with a shovel, Arthur Holly, Holland Landing, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault in county police court before Magistrate Keith on Monday.

Mrs. Maria Sedore corroborated Mrs. Ilton's evidence.

"I saw Graham go into West's and come out with something that looked like a shovel in his hand," related Dick Foster. "Holly came out of the house with a coat and hat and Graham struck him down."

"Did you see either of the girls?" asked Holly. "They weren't there at all."

The evidence is very conflicting," summed up Magistrate Keith. "The girls' evidence was very strikingly given, and just as strikingly denied. Under the circumstances I can only find Holly not guilty. Case dismissed."

If Premier John Bracken of Manitoba could take into the treasury of his province the sum saved when the construction of but one 10,000 ton cruiser is cancelled he would not only have all Dinsdlow's bills paid for an entire year but he would have a surplus to spare of $3,000,000. It costs about $3,500,000 a year to keep a United States capital ship in commission.

Passing of an Estimable Woman.

The death of Mrs. Ashton Lloyd on Tuesday of last week, came as a shock to her many friends in Newmarket. She had been ailing for about ten days but nothing serious was anticipated, and when the end came Monday her demise when indications became alarming, but every effort to revive her was unavailing and she departed this life on the 18th of March.

The maiden name of deceased was Miss Ella Scarlett, a daughter of late Edward Shanon, born at Aurora 73 years ago and was united in marriage to Mr. Lloyd over 47 years ago. They have always lived to the Township of Whitchurch. Besides her husband, one son and one daughter survive—Mr. Bruce Lloyd of Port Credit and Mrs. Wilfrid Smith, Walter C. Brown of Newmarket. Mrs. George Trivett of Newmarket is a sister of deceased.

Besides her children and four grandchildren Mrs. Lloyd had a very large circle of friends and was especially rich in friendship of young people who always found a warm welcome in her home and a wealth of sympathy in their problems and needs.

"To live in hearts we leave
Is not to die,"

and the beautiful floral tributes indicated the esteem in which she was held.

The funeral service was conducted at the family residence on Friday of last week by Rev. A. E. Marshall of Trinity United Church, assisted by Rev. T. S. Meadows of the Christian Church and was largely attended. The pall bearers were Messrs. Wallet Hall, Frank Playter, Silas VanDusen, John Poote, John Reid and Wm. Reid. Interment at Newmarket Cemetery.

Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mr. Bruce Lloyd of Port Francis, Ont., Miss Sadie B. Lloyd of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. Levi Watson of Smithville, Ont.; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd of Thornhill, Mrs. W. F. Trivett of Toronto.

LOVE OF OUTDOORS HELPS TO WIN AWARD

Doris Sheppard of Edmonton Wins All-Canada Essay Prize.

A lover of outdoor life, a keen observer of nature, and a real desire to go camping where she can enjoy nature's wonder to the full.

That's why Miss Doris Sheppard, grade VIII student at the Edmonton Normal School, who is 12 years of age, won a recent All-Canada essay contest sponsored by the Canadian Forestry association. Announcement of her success over children from all parts of the dominion was received this week and little Miss Oaris is highly elated.

"I never thought I would win but I'm awfully glad that I did," she explained when asked how she felt at winning the prize. While a prize of $10 is awarded Miss Doris feels that the fact that she had the best essay is honor enough.

Doris Sheppard is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Sheppard of Edmonton South, and granddaughter of Mr. John Sheppard of Newmarket.

The following is copied from the Edmonton Journal :

"She never received any special tuition in essay writing or composition, being given only the usual education provided by the public school curriculum.

Besides an ability to write she likes the outdoor life and whenever her parents take her along on a camping trip she is, to quote her father, "just tickled to death."

Two years ago she went with her parents to Banff, the Yoho valley and Lake Louise, where she received a taste of outdoor life on a grand scale.

Last year she was taken to northern Saskatchewan where again she got a real outdoor life as seen from a camping viewpoint.

"She likes to come on these trips," Mr. Sheppard explained, "and besides liking outdoor life itself she is interested in natural history and reads the magazines containing 'outdoor' articles."

In her essay which won the prize, Doris explained the general information gleaned by reading outdoor magazines and the particularly interesting and pleasant upon animal life in the woods.

She also stressed the importance of fire prevention and explained how forests are the basis of the pulp and paper industry."

Mr. Roy Sheppard, father of little Doris is a graduate of Newmarket High School and became a professional athlete before acepting the position of Principal of Edmonton High School 13 years ago and has now 20 teachers under his supervision.

Our local Townman has much reason to be proud of both his son and granddaughter.

Whitchurch Council

HYDRO CONTRACT SIGNED AT VANDORF

Provincial Voters' List Cost More Than Total Printing Contract

Members of Whitchurch Township council were amazed when they were called on to pay $87775, being one-third of the cost of setting up in type and printing a few hundred of the voters' list used for the last provincial election. The total cost of the list in Whitchurch was $26325 or $50 more than the municipality pays for its entire printing contract which includes 225 copies of the same voters' list published in book form. The Provincial list set in Toronto was ordered by the Election Board in pursuance of the election act, which provides that the municipality shall pay one-third of the cost, and the government two-thirds.

The Whitchurch share is small but is not so much the big cost, as the fact that the rural municipalities have no per-listed assembly which is quite as good as a basis for federal or provincial elections which are always revised in any year on the eve of an election. As this law is quite clear on the matter council passed the account unanimously.

The council met in general session at the township hall last Saturday, Reeve Brown Kidd presiding, all members being present including Deputy Reeve Wes. Williams, and Councillors Bae, Ratcliff and Evans.

A letter communication from the municipal Relief Board showed the council liable for $3095 being half the cost of indigent patients sent to hospital or cared for since October 1929 at the General Hospital and York County Hospital.

A refund was also made to the Vandorf school fair of the request of R. E. White, district representative, said grant being the usual $10 and $5 extra. The extra was introduced by Deputy Reeve Williams and councillor Bae.

The motion of councillors Ratcliff and Bae council approved of a subdivision at Musselman's Lake on the 8th concession (south side of Yonge St.) as owned by Mr. Stephens.

In approving of the subdivision the motion provided that owner would assume no liability for roads thereon.

The reeve opened a discussion on advisability of instituting a garbage collection in Aurora, the cost to be borne by the local residents affected.

Hydro power is shortly to be introduced at Vandorf, and council signed a contract for a supply of current for the municipal hall.

School inspector Tidd sent a communication respecting a family at Oak Ridges that it is alleged is not sending their children to school.

All accounts for road work must be in the hands of Henry Widdifield, road supt., two days before council meeting, and the current payment at that meeting. Accounts not forwarded in this manner may be left over for next meeting in order to do necessary checking of these bills.

Last Sunday the community was shocked to hear of the death of the esteemed friend, Mrs. Ashton Lloyd. She has lived among us for about thirty years and those of us who knew her had learned to love her for her beautiful spirit of friendliness. She was native in community like around Pine Orchard, and her place will be hard to fill. About a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd moved to Newmarket on Prospect Avenue. After a brief illness her life was peacefully ended. As we look back we realize that our sense of appreciation of her life was only a mere shadow as to what it should have been. Our deep sympathy is extended to the community, to the bereaved husband and family.

LONDON BUS DRIVER SOLVES TRAFFIC JAM

Moves Family to Western Canada Farm.

It took twenty-one years for A. W. J. Powell, bus-driver, to weary of the whirl and roar of London traffic and break away to the great open spaces. But at least the bus yielded to the cloth and gave him food and shelter on the land somewhere in the prairie.

His sons had a great deal to do with it. Alfred Arthur Edward, who is twenty, came in Canada in 1926 and liked the country so well that he persuaded a younger brother, William Henry Charles, to join him the following year. Places were found in Ontario for the two boys by the Canadian National Railways. Their experiences convinced the father that it was time to forsake the bus, and arrangements were therefore made by the European Colonization organization of the Canadian National Railways for the family to sail for Canada in March. The youngsters' letters will help them decide where to make their future home.

Before leaving London, Powell confessed that he had always had a hankering for a farm.

"I like bus-driving first rate, but the traffic jams in London are a bit of a nuisance. The best way to solve the traffic problem is to move out of it and I'm told there aren't many traffic jams out on the Canadian prairies either. APARTMENT AblAZE AT OSHAWA

OSHAWA, March 21st.—About fifty residents of the King Street Charbens, three-story apartment block in the business section of the city, were forced to flee from their rooms into the street when fire broke out at 7.15 this evening. Smoke quickly spread throughout the building, an old structure, and considerable alarm was caused the inmates.

Fire Chief Elliott stated that, in his opinion, the blaze was caused by a lighted cigaret but dropped behind a radiator on the stairway between the second and third floors of the structure. The fire burned through the partition into a bedroom, where the tenant was absent, and when discovered had gained considerable headway in the bedroom. Smoke filled the stairway, and terror-stricken residents fled down the back stairs to the street.

Comments of Exchanges.

Same Everywhere.

Markham Economist: There is general rejoicing over the attitude of the two great parties at Ottawa regarding rum-running to the United States. What a wave of popularity would sweep down them were they to assume the same mutual attitude regarding prohibition in this country.

Scraping the Radial.

Collingwood Bulletin: Who cannot recall the fight put up by Hon. E. C. Drury to save this province from the radial craze that struck it six or seven years ago? Mr. Drury won and as evidence of the soundness of his judgment that radials in the vicinity of Toronto were doomed to failure there is the scrapping of the Metropolitan with its line from Toronto Junction to Sutton on Lake Simcoe. Had not the fight been waged to a finish many millions would have been sunk in the scheme.

Indians Have Rights.

Collingwood Bulletin: Prosecution for violation of the game laws have determined the Indians of this section of the province to appeal to Ottawa. The claim is that treaties entered into fifty years and more ago, gave certain fishing and hunting rights and privileges that have in no way been annulled. If the appeal is successful, new legislation might have to be enacted to bring the law in accordance with the Indian term, "as long as the sun shines, water flows and grass grows."

Education

Toronto Saturday Night: One of the really nice things about education is that it is becoming easier and more entertaining all the time. Also more expensive, but that, of course, is something to which not even the most sensitive Radical could give an hour's thought. That is the business of the wretched taxpayer, who is thus enabled to take a front-seat on exercises in patience and loss-suffering. All the student has to do is to lap up the bright and shining facts which are judiciously pumped up for him from the well of wisdom and shining every become sufficiently absorbed by the time he is ready to graduate. In fact, "water" seems a bleak and forbidding word to apply to fluids so effervescent and highly flavoured as those which are nowadays set before our little guests at the banquet of learning. The dreadful stuff with which they are expected to slake their thirst for knowledge are more in the nature of a continuous series of lemonades, very sweet and bubbly and equipped with chemically certified straws, so that the young absorbent can soak in the pure facts he likes. It is all very jolly and exhilarating and quite, quite different from the dismal business which school teachers made of it in the days of my youth. But I notice that earnest observers among whom I hasten ably but hopefully to count themselves sometimes worried by doubts as to just how much education the lads and lasses are getting out of it all. Probably about as much as we did, when everything is taken into account—I don't see how they could very well get much less—but then look at the size and cost and complexity of the equipment that is being used on them! It is something like employing a combined harvester to do a job that can just as effectively be done with a scythe.

Gardening Service

Special to the Era.

Catalogues

The seed catalogue of to-day is vastly different from that old publication which used to be the bait for many a joke when the newspapers were short of copy. The modern affair is not only interesting and very attractive with photographs in color, but it is also distinctly authentic. The information is furnished by experts in the enumerated seed line and in Government Experimental Institutions. Descriptions can be relied upon and the illustrations are from actual photographs. Successful gardeners never attempt very much in the way of growing flowers or vegetables without supplying themselves with a catalogue. Many of their questions are answered in this and the new varieties are fully explained in the case of flowers, where height, time of blooming, and whether the plant is adapted to shade or full sun, heavy soil or light, and similar conditions are given. New vegetables are not only fully described in the way of cultural requirements, but generally a hint is given as to how to prepare them for the table. The season, that is whether the vegetable is early, medium or late, is also specified. With a good seed catalogue one is well-equipped to commence gardening.

Lawns

Before one should think of starting to lay them, the soil should be put in first-class shape. It is a fatal people matter to make the ground level before the seed is sown, but after that the job is one which requires care and patient work. Make sure that the soil has the requires years of patient work. Make sure that the surface is level. The easiest way to do this is to dig well, preferably of course in the fall. Clear out everything in the way of stones, sticks and roots and make level. Now, let the soil get a chance to settle; rain will do this and a late frost will help. Make level again and repeat two or three times. This may take a week or two but it is well worth while. In fact, unless one is in a great hurry it is best to put the space set aside for lawn in some cultivated crop like potatoes for a season in order to have the earth settle properly. When everything is ready, select the very best seed obtainable. Sometimes, the lessener is tempted to purchase the low-priced article but he will be disappointed when he has been gets cropped and coarse after the first cut. Purchased from reputable merchants is the cheapest in the end. One pound of seed is needed for every 200 sq. feet. Sow during the evening or on a quiet day, rake in lightly but thoroughly, and roll with a very sharp mower when the grass is a few inches high.

Easily Grown Annuals

Even the busy person who cannot afford to potter too much around the flower garden can have a brilliant display of bloom with very little trouble. In choosing his flowers, he must make sure that they require little care, that they bloom freely, and last for a long time. They must not be too fussy in the matter of watering because the busy person has no time to spend in nursing them along during the hot weather. With these points in mind, one cannot go wrong in choosing all or some of the following: snapdragon, marigolds, poppies, annual larkspur, nasturtiums, scabiosa, zinnias, salpiglossis. These are all medium to large-sized plants, with the exception of the nasturtium which can be secured either as ordinary or trailing plants. For a hot, sunny and sandy spot, portulaca will make an excellent flower and will thrive even when neglected. It is a low, spreading sort of plant with a bright flower. Mignonette should possibly be added for fragrance sake. Transplant the flowers are best removed and the weeds kept down early in the season, all these flowers should bloom from the first of July until Autumn, and with the exception of the poppy and in clumps or bed, depending on color and size.

Rose Requirements.

Roses must have good drainage and it is best to give some protection in the form of fences, shrubbery or buildings on the north side. They should, however, be planted two or three feet east and hybrid tea roses. The roots should be spread out when planting and the earth firmed well about the stocks. The point at which the roses are budded union of stock and scion) should be buried to inches below the surface of the soil.

of these hospitals. As when a young man was brought to the Outpost, at Pinnet Branch, on Manitoba, in heavy below weather, suffering from acute appendicitis and the nurse had to decide whether to let him die at the Outpost or set him at once to the Winnipeg hospital and a surgeon a hundred miles to the south. With the assistance of a Canadian National employee, on a line where there could be no regular train for three days, Nurse Litton wrapped the patient in blankets and surrounded him with hot water bottles and stones, on a car "Jigger" which she and the section hand operated, against every kind of difficulty all the way to the city where they arrived after a day and night journey in time to save the fast ebbing life.

Or, again, a nurse at one of these outposts records:

"January 10th. Thirteen miles by Jigger, two miles by team to seventy-five easily reached by bolting water. Did all I could to help and instructed mother. Returned three days later in bad weather and was glad to find husband recovered."

"February 23rd—Hurry up call—ten miles by Jigger, three by team to see a man shot accidentally, bullet entering right leg above knee and coming out on inner side of thigh. Dust, dirt and tobacco had been carried into wound. But got it all cleaned and had the man sent to the hospital, where I can take care of him."

Other records tell of a man patient suffering with pneumonia brought in sleighs, surrounded by heated chairs, on a two-day journey to an Outpost where he made a good recovery; of babies born en route to the hospital, in jolting wagons, but mothers and children making the trip safely afterwards in the shelter of bright. The Outpost hospital is its own best advocate wherever it exists and the one on wheels, which is supplied by the Canadian National Railways in the Thunder Bay District is no exception to the rule; while it excites the curiosity and interest of all who see it in the same way as does the equally beneficient "school on wheels" initiated and operated by the Dept. of Education in New Ontario.

The travelling hospital is in charge of one public health nurse and one housekeeper. The car is comfortably fitted at one end with two hospital beds for sick.

In generously assisting in so manifestly constructive a national task, Canadian National Railways are giving just that service which might be expected of a great public utility desirous of forwarding by every possible means, safe settlement, establishment of homes, the making of villages, towns and cities, the welfare of our Canadian pioneering peoples.

Oak Ridges

The Late Mrs. W. H. Legge

The village and community were saddened on Sunday morning, March 16th by the news of the death of Mrs. W. H. Legge. Although deceased had suffered from ill health for a long time, the end came suddenly due to heart failure. Mrs. Legge, who was in her 64th year, was born on Yonge St. near Bond Lake, the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Asa Curtis. She had lived in the vicinity all her life and was widely known and highly respected by a large circle of friends. She was a member of St. John's Anglican Church where the funeral was conducted by Rev. P. H. Scanes, assisted by Rev. G. S. Despard, rector of St. Lukes Church, Toronto. Many beautiful floral offerings paid silent tribute to the revered memory of the noble life which had ceased. Interment took place at St. John's Cemetery, Oak Ridges.

A very successful dance was held at the Snowhill Hotel, that hidden on Monday evening, March 10th in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thompson who were recently married. Numerous friends from Temperanceville attended. A lunch was provided by the ladies. After lunch an address was read by Mr. Eldred on behalf of the people of Oak Ridges, followed by presentation of a toilet set and lamp. Immediately after the first presentation an address was read by Sgt. Leonard Harmon on behalf of the people of Temperanceville, who presented the Bride and Groom with a beautiful mantle clock. The dance lasted until 3 a.m., and everybody left tired, but happy. A buffet lunch was served a good time. Snider's Orchestra supplied the music.

FEWER PHONE TROUBLES

Nine sums of money are spent annually by the Bell Telephone Company to maintain the equipment at the highest standard, thereby enhancing the value of telephone service. Last year, says the Company's annual report, there was a further reduction of 12 per cent. in the number of troubles per telephone. The reduction of troubles has been 43 per cent. since 1925, demonstrating the effectiveness of the Company's policy of preventive maintenance.

FRESS PARTY GOING EAST

To show off Nova Scotia to the weekly newspapermen who are to meet in Halifax the second week in September is the desire of the weekly editors of the Maritime. They have enlisted the Nova Scotia government in their work of plans for the visit, in writing to the Hants Journal which paper is represented on the Board, Editor H. S. Anslow. Premier Rhodes stated "that in behalf of the Government and people of Nova Scotia, I wish to extend to the Association though you a hearty invitation to hold your Convention in this Province. Should your associates find it possible to accept this invitation it will be the endeavor of the Government to facilitate in every way possible." As the invitation has been accepted, the Journal adds, "we feel sure that the Province will do its full share in receiving these visitors from Quebec, Ontario, the Prairie and Pacific provinces in hospitable fashion."

A TORRENT OF POWER AND SPEED

72 MILES AN HOUR

48 IN SECOND GEAR

65 HORSEPOWER

RICH BROADCLOTH UPHOLSTERY

INTERNAL 4 WHEEL BRAKES

HYDRAULIC SHOCK ABSORBERS

In creating the entirely new Willys Six, Willys-Overland brings a motor car of luxury and refinement, coupled with amazing power and speed, to the low-priced class.

Such a combination of features as the 65 horsepower motor, (72 miles an hour, 48 in second) rich upholstery fabrics, beautiful interior appointments and low-swung graceful bodies, finds no parallel except in cars of much higher price.

But these features by no means complete the Willys Six picture. Consummate driving ease and smoothness have been attained by rubber-insulating the engine against vibration. New hydraulic shock absorbers smooth out the roughest roads. Perfect control and relaxation are enjoyed at highest speeds. Gasoline and oil consumption are remarkably low.

Know at first hand this highest advancement in the low-cost field. See and drive the Willys Six. Your nearest Willys-Overland dealer will gladly arrange a demonstration.

Willys Six Prices: Coach (as illustrated) $935; Sedan $1020; Coupe (2 pass.) $915; Coupe (4 pass.) $935; Roadster (2 pass.) $895; Roadster (4 pass.) $915; Touring $875; De Luxe Sedan (4 wire wheels) $1150. All prices f.o.b. factory, Toronto. Taxes extra.

Following the appeal of the beautiful bright sunlight, it was no surprise to see the large congregation that assembled for worship last Sunday morning. The preacher, Rev. J. H. Boy Leader Honored.

On Saturday night Taylor Statten, much beloved leader of boys, whose influence has affected lives scattered around the globe, was the guest of honor at a banquet at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, marking the close of his 25th year in boys' work, and at which he revealed his dream for the future.

More than 600 friends were present, members of the National Boys' Work Board, the Rotary Club, Camp Coubichiking, Camp Ahmek, Pickering College and the Y.M.C.A., all organizations with which Mr. Statten has been connected during the last quarter century.

Four volumes bound in tooled leather, containing more than 600 letters from men in all parts of the world whose lives had been influenced by Taylor Statten, were presented to the leader by Norman Sommerville, K.C.

"Taylor Statten has broken down the old dogmas of orthodox methods practiced by the churches in boys' work," Mr. Sommerville said. "He has given the boys a new vision of life, and he leads them toward it."

Mr. Statten was also presented with a life-size portrait of himself, in camp clothes, painted by J. E. Sampson.

In acknowledging the complimentary banquet as well as the gifts, Mr. Statten said: "We are living in an age of science. Our lives are governed by scientific factors, and boys' work today must be approached in a scientific attitude.

"I would like to see a clinic established in Toronto, and in every other large city of the Dominion, where there would be psychologists and psychiatrists to advise not only the abnormal and subnormal boys, but every normal boy.

"A clinic of this kind, giving vocational guidance, would do away with a great many, if not all, of our social maladjustments and the problem of the boy who is fundamentally sound but not academically inclined."

Similar work to now being done by Mr. Statten as chief of the department of character development at Pickering College, Newmarket.

Taylor Statten is recognized as a leading camp director and his camp as a model, not only in Canada but throughout the United States.

Sister—"Really Gerald, you must learn to shake hands like a gentleman."

Ideal English Village.

Saffron Walden is a good place to use as a centre for excursions through the old villages of Essex that lie completely off the beaten track. Ugley Green is one of these tiny places. It is singularly misnamed, for here, by way of paradox, more charming cottages can be seen than anywhere else. Instead of standing close together on one long street, they are scattered along narrow lanes, hidden behind trees and hedges. With flowering shrubs in bloom, Ugley Green fulfils the fondest dreams of an ideal English village. There are many other charming spots with old houses and older churches.

The Last City of Jamaica

In the English island of Jamaica, Kingston is the capital and chief city. But this was not always so. Port Royal was the only city of importance during the island's early history, and it is still fascinatingly interesting. Either came Spanish conquistadores, conquering English sea-dogs, pirates and buccaneers who brought much gold treasure that Port Royal was one of the richest cities in the world Two earthquakes—one in 1692, another in 1907—put an end to all this by shaking many of the buildings into the sea. Now the surface of the bay is smooth, houses may be seen beneath the water—a lost city like the fabled Atlantis.

Big Buddha

All of us are familiar with pictures of the mammoth figure of Buddha in Japan. It may be seen at Kamakura, a pleasant summer resort near Yokohama, which is also famous for its beaches and beautiful mountain top views. The Daibutsu, or Big Buddha, is the largest bronze casting in existence, and sits in state upon a lotus flower with a calm and peaceful expression like eyes of pure gold seem to be absorbed in meditation. On his head are 830 curls each nine inches high, representing the snails which, according to legend, crawled up over his head to shelter its bald surface from the sun's rays.

The Heart of Vienna

In Vienna there is one cafe where it is delightful to spend an hour or two sitting and watching the people who gather there. This is the Cafe Landtmann on Ringstrasse, situated in the heart of Vienna, it is a meeting place for authors, playwrights, journalists, racing and sporting people, and a sprinkling of radicals associated with revolutionary groups in the Balkans. Before the war the Cafe Imperial was a rendezvous of fashion and the military in gorgeous uniforms. There is no other one similar cafe in any city where such a varied and interesting crowd of people may be seen.

Why Mosquitoes?

Why do people love to go to Rocamadour? Setting the curtain is a run through the greenest rolling hills of central France, past ruined castles, past crumbling stone farmhouses, past banks of roving gypsies. Suddenly the village appears far across the valley, perched houses clinging to the side of a cliff which is crowned by one of France's great pilgrimage churches and a lofty castle. The one street of Rocamadour is narrow and cobbled.

Color, Flowers, Song

Sicily is a land of color, of flowers, and of ringing bells. The flower venders carry their wares in one great bouquet on a long pole high above the crowd. In spring the iris appear in battalions bearing aloft enormous clusters of orange blossoms—enough to make the streets perpetually festal. But nothing else gives so much color and song to out-of-door life as the pointed carts. Every inch of the surface is decorated with shades and bells that you never see before, and all the designs and scenes are different. The harness of the pony or donkey, too, is gay, and the sound of their bells fills the streets.

A Printer's Shrine

It is not without reason that the visitor to Antwerp in Belgium is asked so often if he has yet seen the home of Christopher Plantin The worthy printer was a French printer of the sixteenth century and made Antwerp his home and printshop. In the angle of the Starche du Vendredi is the old house itself is a fine Renaissance example of the better burgher type. Priceless treasures of engraving and printing can be seen, and the place has become a veritable shrine for American newspaper men.

LENTEN SALADS

Pineapple Salad.

(Serves 4)

4 slices pineapple

½ large oranges

1 head lettuce

4 Maraschino cherries

1 green pepper

Place slice of pineapple on bed of lettuce. Lay sections of orange on pineapple slice, to form a domed appearance. Cut a rosette of cherry and place on top of fruit sections. Roseate is made by cutting the cherry in 4 or eight sections leaving it joined at the tip. Two diamond-shaped pieces of green pepper are placed on each side of the sand, near the cherry. Serve with French dressing.

Princess Salad

(Serves 6)

2 head lettuce

1 can green asparagus tips

2 fresh tomatoes

2 large oranges

Pimento and mayonnaise

Place one slice of tomato on each salad plate on which has been arranged a bed of lettuce. Top off with mayonnaise and a strip of pimento. Arrange 4 sections of orange around the tomato.

Poinsettia Salad

Peel oranges and separate into sections free from membrane. Place Philadelphia cream cheese in the centre of a bed of lettuce. Arrange 5 or 8 orange sections around the cheese to resemble the petals of the poinsettia, putting thin slices of pimento on top of each section. The stripe of pimento may be cursed to represent a cane and will make a more effective decoration. Serve with mayonnaise in the centre with pieces of green pepper cut in diamond shape.

Caramel Junket

1 junket tablet

1 pint milk

1 tablespoon cold water

1 cup sugar

1 cup boiling water

1 teaspoon vanilla

Crush junket tablet and dissolve in cold water. Put sugar in a small saucepan and heat, stirring constantly, until melted and golden brown. Add water and dissolve sugar in it. Add milk to carmel syrup and warm until lukewarm—not hot. Remove from stove. Add dissolved tablet and vanilla and turn at once into individual dessert glasses. Let stand in a warm room until firm (about 10 minutes); then chill before serving. Add a topping of marshmallows cut in pieces and mixed with whipped cream.

Scalloped Potatoes

Into a well-buttered baking dish put a layer of thinly sliced potatoes, salt, pepper and a thin scattering of finely cut cheese and one-half the thin white sauce (1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter to 1 cup milk). Repeat and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake to moderate oven about an hour, until the white sauce bubbles through and the potatoes are well done and brown on top. If cheese is committed, add small pieces of butter to each layer of potatoes. In order to save time of making cream sauce, a small amount of dry flour can be sprinkled over layers of potato, and milk added to cover the potatoes.

Orillia, March 20.—While carrying firewood to his fishing hut located on the ice of Lake Couchiching, Russell Boyd, local fisherman, saw the hut suddenly swirled about by the raging blizzard and carried several miles down the lake. King City

Too late for last week.

On Monday night, March 17th, an Irish supper was served in the Sunday School Room, which was very gaily decorated for the occasion with green and white streamers. The matrons at each table with assistant helpers were green caps and aprons, and the tables had shamrock centres. There was also an Irish menu. A very splendid program followed with the following artists taking part; Mr. Nichols, baritone; Mr. J. C Dew, tenor; Rev Silverman, accordionist; Miss Lillian Lever, pianist; Misses Grace Stone and Eleanor Cummings, elocutionist; Miss Verna Carson, accompanist.

The World's Day of Prayer was observed on March 7th, when the ladies of the Baptist, Presbyterian, Anglican, and United Churches held a United Prayer Service in the United Church at 3 o'clock. About 65 were present.

The Young People's Society was in charge of the third vice-president, Miss Eleanor Cummings, last Tuesday night. Mr. W. J. McAllister gave a splendid talk on "Citizenship". After the meeting there was a Bible contest on the Sunday school lessons of this quarter. Florence Follett and Ruth Campbell were appointed captains. Ruth Campbell's group won the most points.

The Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Charles Archibald last Thursday, March 13th, with an attendance of 40. After a very interesting program luncheon was served and a social hour spent.

MORE CALLS COMPLETED

During the past year, public support of the Bell Telphone Company's effort to increase the percentage of local calls completed satisfied, according to the Company's annual statement, to over 80,000 more exchange calls being completed daily than in 1929, and this despite a greater use of the telephone. In long distance calls completed, the 1929 increase was 31 per cent. higher than for the previous year.

NEW PLANET DISCOVERY IS TRIBUTE TO LOWELL

Astronomer in 1915 Predicted Addition to Solar System.

Within the last few days our concepts of the size of our solar system have been greatly changed. On March 12 the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, announced the discovery of a new planet which is revolving about the sun outside the orbit of Neptune. Up to this planet, Neptune has been the outermost known planet but now the text books of astronomy will have to be changed. Instead of eight major planets, we have nine.

The new planet is farther from Neptune than Neptune is from Uranus.

This discovery, made through photography, for mathematical deduction long since in the law of gravitation.

Concerning the planet itself, nothing is yet known with great accuracy. It does not seem to possess a color other than the letter "X" by which it was always designated by Professor Lowell. Its mean distance from the sun is about 43 times the earth's and its round numbers, 4 billion miles. It probably takes 250 years to cover its immense circuit once, which means it moves among the stars just slightly over a mile a second.

Its mass is seven times that of the earth. Prof. Lowell turned out to be much luckier then expected, which was a reason for the long delay in its discovery.

LIBERAL YOUTH BODY HAS AUSPICIOUS BIRTH

Ottawa, March 20.—A national youth was launched to-night under the sponsorship of the elder statesman of the Liberal Party and under the aegis of youthful politicians whose years dated within the twentieth century. It is to be known as the Twentieth Century Liberal Association of Canada.

Famous names already recorded in the history of Canada are found on the roster of the two branches of the organization. Particularly did the daughters of the statesman pride in the women's branch. Senator Cairine Wilson is honorary chairman of this branch, with Miss Odette Lapointe, daughter of the minister of justice, as chairman. The vice-chairman is Miss Rosanna Heward, daughter of the minister of the interior, and on the committee are included Miss Margart Heenan, Miss Mary Pardee, Miss Mary Howell of Toronto, and Miss Olive Wilson, daughter of Senator Wilson.

Every city in the Dominion was represented. The occasion was a banquet tendered to the prime minister and the entire function was organized by the young people themselves.

BRITAIN—SNOW COVERED

Motor Cars Stalled and Sheep Buried in Drifts.

London, Eng., Mar. 20.—The British isles were digging out from one of the heaviest snowfalls in years today.

The storm was most severe in Kent, where a blanket 12 inches deep fell in a few hours. But in Wales, travelers said, had the appearance of a polar waste, with motorists stranded along blocked roads, and farmers experiencing difficulty rescuing sheep buried in drifts.

Air services to the continent were abandoned. Ships groping to harbors were assisted by fog sirens and guns fired from the Admiralty Pier at Dover.

Schools were closed yesterday in many sections of the country, the students being unable to attend. Temperatures in many places sank to the lowest level of the winter with spring officially due to-morrow, still seemingly unable to be behind.

Snow in Dublin impeded traffic.

EVERY CALL A LONG DISTANCE STATION

More Lines, Quicker, Better, Cheaper Service

Last year we added about 14,000 miles of talking channels to our long distance system.

Associated apparatus — switchboard, cable, amplifying equipment — has also been vastly extended and improved.

And lower rates on calls to points 75 to 800 miles distant are now in effect.

Long Distance now gives you quicker and better communication — with the next town, or across the continent. And it costs less than ever before.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mount Albert Horticultural Society will be held Tuesday evening, April 1. An appropriate Easter program has been arranged. Each member is requested to come and bring a friend. We are pleased that so many of our young people are taking an interest in the society. Bring pencil and pad.

The Young People's Society of Mt. Albert met as usual in the basement of the church on Monday evening last. The meeting was under the literary and social convenor. Dr. Hewitt was in the chair. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Viola Davis. Mr. Hutchinson took charge of the discussion period. Rev. Peckler of Keswick gave a very interesting address which was much appreciated. Mr. Oscar Robertson favored us with a piano solo. The meeting closed with the benediction.

BRIEFLETS.

Spring is due on March 21st but so far the weather has been anything but spring-like.

The breeze has been installed in the new Continuation School and the plasterers are now at work.

A heavy fall of snow on Tuesday morning, followed by rain at night made the roads in this vicinity worse than usual.

The Horticultural Society are putting on a dance for the next operation. Mr. R. Humphrey is secretary, succeeding Mr. Bohme.

THE HORSE SHOE CLUB.

On Friday evening last the members of the Mount Albert Horse Shoe Club were hosts at a very enjoyable euchre and dance held in the U.F.O. hall.

There was a similar entertainment to Zephyr on the same night which had a large number of the attendance but nevertheless the hall was comfortably filled. Progressive euchre was the order of the evening until about 12 o'clock, when refreshments were served and dancing was kept up until late hours became early ones. All present report an enjoyable time.

Misery had certainly done his part well. No one objected to him being reconvened. Miss Stiles and all others, including those who gave the music, deserve great praise. CONSECRATION

An explanation in justification of the Sutton West Brigade's refusal to attend fires in Gwillimbury township.

In 1927 the department attended two fires in Gwillimbury, one at King's on the base line, at which two of the firemen were injured, and a grass fire at the Samuelton, a children's club, on the lake shore.

At a meeting at the Department on Feb. 18th, 1928, a resolution was passed, that the village should write to Gwillimbury and Georgina Councils to come to some arrangement of remuneration. The Sutton Fire Brigade for attendance of fires in their municipalities, also asking Gwillimbury to reimburse the two firemen injured at the King fire. No reply being received to the clerk's letters, a meeting was called on June 25th, 1928, at which property owners of the two municipalities met the department and the proposition was thoroughly gone into and discussed. A resolution was passed that the brigade would attend calls outside the village limits only on being guaranteed fifteen dollars for a false call, or where nothing but fire was used, necessary and duly officers where the fire had to be fought. The Georgina Council agreed to and accepted these terms.

In view of the fact that the courtesy of a reply to the village clerk's letter was not extended by the Gwillimbury Council, the Sutton Fire Department feels, as the above stand could be taken by them and that the people of Gwillimbury be given this explanation to place the onus on the proper shoulders.

Fashions for the Smart Woman

GRACE OF LINE

It is no wonder that the new fashions have been taken up so enthusiastically by women of all ages and sizes. They combine to be especially flattering in their slenderizing grace of line. An example of the new line is shown here, featuring a smart circular side flare. The front lap is wrap-around style and is tied at the left side with a bow. A most agreeable modification of the raised waistline is advocated. Contrast, so essential in the new mode, is achieved in the form of long front revers which add further to the slenderizing effect.

COURT DECIDES UPON VALUE IN CHURCHILL LAND CASE

Ottawa, March 24.—The Exchequer Court of Canada is a judicial body delivered today, decided that compensation upon the basis of $30 per lot was due to Frank Beech for lands at Port Churchill, Man., expropriated by the Dominion Government for construction of the Hudson Bay Railway terminus and port facilities. Interest from the date of taking in August, 1929, is also granted. In his judgement, Mr. Justice MacLean rules that the Dominion Government was within its rights on expropriating the town property. His Lordship observes that while the land was purchased in 1914 were speculative, and "are not a test of the value of the lands at the date of expropriation, 16 years or so afterward."

Horticultural Lecture.

The Newmarket Horticultural Society opened up its season's activities with an illustrated lecture by Mr. H. J. Moore at the Town Hall on Wednesday evening. Owing to weather conditions the attendance was small but those present were well repaid by the very profitable address.

Mr. Ward Chesbrough, President of the Society, took the chair and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Moore, who has been here on several occasions, is a government expert on Horticulture and has recently been made Secretary of the International Peace Garden Project. He began his lecture by giving valuable information on the treatment and preparation of soils, and planting of bulbs, tubers and seed. The soil must have certain chemical properties to produce good results. Bone meal, natural colored alder were shown, illustrating the best soil mixtures. Coupled with results of what the Horticultural Societies are doing in Ontario and in the other provinces. Mr. Moore has travelled 56,000 miles in the last sixteen months and stated there were 10,000 horticulture members in Ontario.

A feature of the address was information he presented on the great International Peace Garden. It was first inspired in the mind of a Canadian and the project became a reality to take up the thought and begun organization. The International Convention of Gardeners held in the U. S. A. in 1928 was honored by the presence of Mr. Moore, the only Canadian who attended out of the thirty there.

He personally invited them to hold their next convention in Ontario and so they came in huge numbers to Toronto last August, where the plans of the Peace Garden were unanimously received. Another was formed and organization laid out. This Peace Garden is to be a living memorial of 100 years peace between Canada and the United States, and is to be maintained forever on the border between the two countries. It will be the world's greatest memorial and when finished will have cost granite because it will grow and live with flowers. There are 46 Horticultural Societies in Ontario which will co-operate to aid the Dominion raise $5,000,000 for this great memorial of Peace. Every citizen of Canada will be asked to give—adults 25c. each and school children 5c. The names of every subscriber will be written in a book and kept for all time. Though the sum to be raised seems to be a large amount yet he assured his listeners that the people of Canada and the world are up to any and related as instance where a German had already grasped the significance of the scheme. The campaign to raise funds started in the States last week and a program will be presented over the radio at Easter time over the N.B.C. and associated stations in the interest of the Peace Garden.

After a vote of thanks to the speaker, Mr. Moore answered question and the meeting closed.

Anyone desiring to become a member of the Newmarket Horticulture Society should get in touch with any of the present members. 2wb

FOUR PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM YORK COUNTY JAIL

Gun Captured and Two Surrender. Twelve in Plot for Jail Delivery.

Four convicts escaped from the Don jail, Toronto, on Thursday night of last week, by sawing a bar in the top of a ventilator window and making a rope of bedclothes in aid to the descent.

THE MAN WITH THE SILVERY HAIR

Is there on the farm where you live a man with silvery hair and halting step. A man who has done his day's work and is just waiting for the call to come when he will step over the line and go out to be under mother earth ?

On many a farm there is a man of that kind. If this old man lives on the farm you live, are you good and kind to him ? Has he the warmest place by the fire when the days are cold ? When spring comes and the sunshine, do you help him get his chair around on the sunny side of the house where he can watch the work go on, while he is in the warmth, for his blood does not run as warm as it did in the days when he was out working the farm when you was a child and now a man ? There was a time when this old man with the silvery hair took the lead of the farm. It may be he cleared the land with his own hands you now till; perhaps he built the house and barn and fences to make everything beautiful and now he has come within the end of the road. Are you trying to make his last days the best and most peaceful of all ? Or are you making us this old man for someone else ?

Some times this is not so. It may be you the silvery hair (your father) is the most slighted of all between the farm. Even the old horse or the dog have a better time on the farms than does the man who has finished his job and is waiting, just waiting. And does not the other old man take the place of company, enjoy more than the man with the silvery hair should have.

Do we see that he gets his pew at church on the Sabbath morning when the weather is cold, or does he not ? That old man has often repeated from the thick Book "Honor thy father and mother and thy days shall be long." The world owes more than it knows to those the pioneers have gone, carved back the forest and left the wilderness a meadow wherever they went. They built the first school house. They set civilization on the course of its present flourishing condition. They established churches and schools in the community. They gave the nation its impulse toward success. They took a world at war and united its bands of God and made it into a new paradise.

These old men with the silvery hair are the world's true benefactors and they are worthy of the best we can give them. Why not do it a little more courtesy ? Whom should we honor more ? Whom should we love by more ? With whom should we be more patient with a daily visit ? Be kind and cheerful with him and make him the best in the house. Talk over things with him. His steps are feeble: he would be glad to.

Listen ! The way we treat them (our parents) is the test of manhood in our own souls. How do we stand in the light of that test ? Now, to the old man with the silver hair my father ?

AMAZING CRUSADE
FOLLOWS CUSTING SALOON

Tombs Chaplain Only Hopes Dry Laws Will be More Consistently Enforced.

Washington, D.C.—"Little Old New York" today carried out the picture of the house judiciary committee's prohibition hearing and one who has seen much of the ne'er do wells who drift along with the rest of the millions testified it was his opinion that as America's first city grows bigger and bigger it also grows better.

The lights along the "Great White Way" may sparkle just as brightly as a decade ago, but in the opinion of John Callahan, the Chaplain at The Tombs prison, an amazing change has taken place. He told the committee it was a change for the better and he attributed it to prohibition.

Wants Law to Stay

"I hope to God the dry law will stay on the law books and be more consistently enforced," were the words he left in the committee record to combat the previous testimony by the anti-prohibition group that since enactment of the Eighteenth amendment, crime has increased and conditions grown worse.

Often referred to as the "Mayor of the Bowery", Mr. Callahan said the dry law had brought "great good" to the Bowery district where he said ten years ago there had been 11 saloons. "Now," he added, "conditions have changed." Twenty-five years as director of the Hadley Rescue mission has given the chaplain much opportunity for observation of those who do not walk on Fifth avenue in fashionable clothes and he said that he knew men who ten years ago had lived "without food and without hope" who now had homes, families, radios and automobiles. Asked, he attributed this change to prohibition.

Says Wet Stand Best Smith

Callahan was the second witness of the day before Rep. Raymond Robins, social worker, likewise had endorsed the Eighteenth amendment and made the assertion that Alfred E. Smith had been defeated as democratic presidential nominee because of his stand on prohibition.

When Smith signed a bill repealing the New York State prohibition enforcement act, Robins asserted, he became the "country's chief nullifier under the Hag".

Mr. Callahan's success was John R. McIntyre superintendent of the Whosoever Gospel Mission of Germantown, Penn. He said the work of the mission showed a change for the better under prohibition, and that it was no longer necessary to pick up intoxicated men from the streets and try and build them into self-respecting citizens.
